I am writing on behalf of Watts Brothers Farms to express our satisfaction with the Northwest Sodbuster unit and Northwest Hard Hitter blades.

We purchased our 14-Foot Sodbuster in 2003. Since that time we have used blades from different manufacturers, including Clean Cutters and Northwest Hard Hitters. With Clean Cutter Blades we were able to till only about 300 acres of sandy loam soil before having to replace the blades. We changed to Northwest Hard Hitter blades and have been able to till 700+ acres of the same sandy loam soil with 65% of blade life still remaining. The longer life of the Northwest blade means less time spent changing blades. By keeping the tiller in the field we can finish ground preparation in less time, resulting in greater yields.

The sales department and the parts department at Northwest have been very helpful from the point of sale to providing the parts we need to keep our machine running in the fields. We appreciate the high quality and craftsmanship found in Northwest's products.

Thank you,

Clark Hyme
